BY AROJELLAS GALVAO.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 24.—The city of Rio De Janeiro was in the hands of insurgents at 11 o'clock this morning, and the resignation of President Washington Luis was expected to be tendered momentarily.

With the revolt staged by Governor Getulio Vargas of the state of Rio Grande do Sul and his followers apparently completely successful, the resignation of the president was awaited before the proclamation of a new government by the insurgents.

Rio De Janeiro was taken by the rebels following a series of riots by mobs who attacked the offices of newspapers with federal sympathies here. The demonstrations continued throughout the morning, and at the hour this dispatch was filed the city had been virtually taken over by the revolters.

BUSINESS HALTS
Business in Rio De Janeiro came to a standstill with success of the insurrection. Thousands of students paraded through the streets carrying flags and banners. A mob of rioters attacked the "Agencia Americana," official Brazilian government information service, setting fire to the place after destroying the furniture and offices.

Rio De Janeiro was cut off entirely from communication with the interior of the country. Tremendous damage was done by the rioters throughout the city. Outbreak of rebellion in the capital came suddenly and without warning, following several days of military inactivity.

A few hours after the torch of insurrection had been set aflame in the capital, it became obvious the insurrectionists held the upper hand and no course seemed open but the resignation of the incumbent government.

STARTED OCT. 3
Success of the revolutionaries climaxed an insurrection launched on Oct. 3 throughout the length and breadth of Brazil by carefully organized rebel forces. Revolutionary committees established in the various state capitals launched coup d'etats simultaneously throughout the country.

The states of Rio Grande do Sul, Parana, Para, Maranhao, Piahy, Ceara, Rio Grande do Norte and Parahyba went over to the rebels almost immediately. Pernambuco capitulated a few days afterward, and a few days ago the huge state of Matto Grosso was taken over by the rebels.

Federal strength was concentrated in the important states of Rio De Janeiro and Sao Paulo, while Santa Catharina, Minas Geraes and Bahia were divided. During the last two weeks, rebel strength was massed along the boundary between Parana and Sao Paulo, and although government advances maintained federal forces were holding their own, rebel leaders claimed victory upon victory in that sector.

TAKE CHIEF PORT
Last week the rebels took Florianopolis, chief port of Santa Catharina, and a short while later swept the entire state. Little by little the insurrectionary force battered down federal strength around Rio De Janeiro, but until today the government managed to keep the tide of revolution away from the capital.

13 DUCKLINGS FROM 14 EGGS

W. C. Koch of the Felix Cadwell farm reports that out of a 14 duck egg setting on the farm this week, 13 of the eggs were fertile. Thirteen little ducklings from 14 eggs is a rare occurrence according to county farmers. The ducklings are on exhibit at the Pumpkin Show.

COOPERATION

Postoffice To Take On More
Employees Through Winter

BY PIERCE MILLER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The federal government set an example to the country today by assuring jobs, over the winter at least, to hundreds of workers, and was prepared to seek the co-operation of all other agencies that might bring succor to the army of unemployed.

Postmaster General Brown and Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board pointed the way for other departments and the country at large. The former issued an order suspending overtime throughout the postal service so as to give the work to substitutes. O'Connor announced that contemplated re-organization of the shipping board and the merchant fleet corporation, will be deferred.

700 EMPLOYEES KEPT
His decision means that from 500 to 700 employees scheduled to be released under the reorganization, will keep their jobs for the winter at least and possibly longer.

The postoffice department according to an announcement by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general takes on extra employees for the Christmas season. Although this is an annual procedure, Coleman said this year it would be spread out as far as possible and married men with families would be given preference.

"Women and children first," will be the consideration of the government forces in its campaign. Col. Arthur Wood, chief of the government's employment campaign, announced he would seek at once the co-operation of every conceivable agency connected with unemployment.

TO GIVE FIGURES

While his old organization with which he met the crisis of 1921-22 is being mobilized, all government agencies, states and municipalities, will be asked to supply actual figures on present unemployment. The data will be brought up to date for the purpose of aiding in a program designated to guide industry in an endeavor to divide available work among as many as possible.

BLAME CAPONE FOR EXECUTION OF JOE AIELLO

Member of Moran-Zuta Gang Shot In Reprisal For Lingle, Thought.

BODY RIDDLED

Murderer Had Ignored Warning of Impending Death.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Authorities today expressed the belief that Joe Aiello, millionaire gang partner of George "Bugs" Moran and the late Jack Zuta, was slain at the command of Alphonse Capone in reprisal for the killing of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, racketeering Chicago Tribune reporter.

Aiello, one of Capone's bitterest foes, had been warned one week ago that he had been marked for death by the scar-faced gang overlord, it was learned. He disregarded the warning. Moran likewise has been warned, police were told. Opening fire from four different positions last night Aiello was cut down by a barrage of machine gun fire as he crossed the courtyard of a north side apartment building on N. Kolmar-ave from the windows of two apartment buildings overlooking the courtyard and from two automobiles the bullets poured.

TRIED TO RUN
The dapper Aiello, startled, tried to run, staggered a few feet and fell to the sidewalk. Ninety, steel-jacketed bullets, most of them 45 calibre, had riddled his body, almost cutting him in two across the waist. Removal of both Zuta and Aiello from the once powerful Aiello-Zuta-Morgan triumvirate of gang leaders leaves their territory open to Capone's exploitation, police pointed out. Moran is facing possible deportation following his arrest as a vagrant Tuesday at Bluff Lake, Ill.

Aiello and Zuta, held responsible for Lingle's murder, went into hiding immediately after the slaying. DEFIED WARNING
When warned of the plot to murder him, Aiello last week made the declaration to friends that he had "killed seven men to get where I am and I am not going to be driven out by Capone or anyone else."

Examination of the corridor of Presto's apartment building showed that the gang had pulled out the push buttons and smashed the speaking tube mouthpieces in order to prevent any possible means of Aiello's escape. Mrs. Presto, taken in custody for questioning today, with Aiello's widow, Katherine, said that Aiello had gone to live at their apartment because he feared for his life. Both women said the gangster had lived in constant fear of his life, not daring to leave the building unless he had to.

According to the widow Aiello ventured fourth last night to take a train for Arkansas where he meant to hide away until it was safe to return.

After the killing several men raced from the two apartment buildings carrying their weapons and were whirled away in the two automobiles. Searching the apartments police found scores of machine gun cartridges, numerous cigar stubs, the remnants of several meals, rubber gloves to erase tell-tale fingerprints and a half-eaten box of candy.

The apartments were rented three weeks ago by a man giving the name of Morris Friend and several other men moved in shortly afterward.

DEM. COMMITTEES MEET TUESDAY

There will be a joint meeting of all the Democratic committees at the committee rooms in the Crist block N. Court Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. according to an announcement Friday by J. L. Leist, party chairman.

CONDITION SAME

The condition of Mrs. M. S. Rinehart, S. Scioto-st., who is a patient at White Cross hospital, is reported to be about the same.

Pumpkin, Squash Displays Found Bigger, Better

The pumpkin display this year exceeds any previously shown in Circleville during the twenty-seven years of the show.

This display is possible only through the efforts of growers like John Wells, J. B. Anderson, the Coon Brothers and Ed. Kreisel, the persons who grow varieties for display and who grow individual pumpkins and squashes. These are the people who make the Pumpkin show possible, who are willing to give their time in order that you can feast your eyes on the pumpkins and eat pies made from them.

The prizes, though high in this department, can not repay these folks for their trouble. It costs a lot to raise and bring to the show 979 entries as John Wells has done this year, or 701 entries as J. B. Anderson has done or 627 entries as the Coon Brothers have. The desire to make the Pumpkin Show a success is the goal that they set.

You can grasp the enormous volume of the pumpkin display when you realize that there are this year 2632 pumpkins and squashes on display.

The big pumpkins and squashes are almost as large as usual this year, the largest pumpkin weighing 62 1-2 pounds and the largest squash weighing 87 1-2 pounds.

Mills restaurant at Columbus tries every year to buy the prize winning pumpkin for display at their restaurant with the prize winning ribbon on it and they advertise the fact that it is the Circleville Pumpkin Show prize winner, acknowledging the fact that Circleville grows the best in the state.

DRY FORCES MEET HERE

Dinwiddie To Address Gathering At Memorial Hall
Tuesday Evening.

A rally of the dry forces of Pickaway-co and adjoining territory is scheduled for Memorial Hall next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Two eminent, interesting and distinguished orators have been secured to address the gathering. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, a leader of the prohibition movement for a number of years past at Washington, D. C. and superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau, will be at the meeting. Mr. Dinwiddie is not only a national but an international figure in the prosecution of the work now and for the 20 years past, of making the liquor traffic an outlaw. He is not a fanatic but is eminently fair in his presentation of the greatest reform, he says, ever before the American people.

"Whether," the promoters say, "you are for or against prohibition, you cannot afford to miss hearing this exponent of the world's dry forces."

Following Mr. Dinwiddie, Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland, Democratic candidate for judge of the supreme court of Ohio, will deliver an address that promises to be strong.

LARGE THrong ARRIVES EARLY TO CELEBRATE

Four Parades Are Chief Attractions of Pumpkin
Show Last Two Days.

BANDS PLEASING

Pet and Industrial Parades
Are Saturday Afternoon.

With a bright sun shining upon the city, crowds of Pumpkin Show visitors began to throng into the city early Friday morning and early this afternoon a truly large Pumpkin Show crowd was on the streets to view the two big parades of the afternoon the third parade of the evening. The first ideal Pumpkin Show day of the week found its way into the city Friday and people from far and wide were wending their ways here to take part in the remaining two days of the celebration.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m. Friday when the baby parade, postponed from Thursday afternoon because of rain, was the leading event, until late Saturday night the Pumpkin Show will be celebrated in its usual way.

PARADE FEATURES
Immediately following the baby parade, the industrial and automobile parade with many beautiful floats in the line of march was scheduled. The comic and characterization parade with a large number of entrants was set for Friday at 8 p. m.

All three of these parades create much interest each year and were in a large way responsible for the large Friday afternoon crowd. It was expected that Friday evening's crowd would be a great one. The Ashville community band and the Adelphi band were playing their brilliant music Friday beginning early in the morning and continuing through the day and Friday evening the American Legion drum corps, which has created such a good impression with its tunes during the first two days of the show, is again scheduled. Thursday evening the Chillicothe drummers came to town and paraded with the local organization. The combined music was excellent.

Saturday afternoon the favorite event of the entire show, the pet parade, will be seen at 2:30 o'clock. Children from Circleville and from every city, town, village and hamlet in the county and adjoining counties will be present to see other kiddies marching up and down the streets with their galaxy of pets. Last year's pet parade was one of the most complete a Pumpkin Show ever saw and this year's is expected to be every bit as good. One child last year had six pets in one wagon and naturally walked off with the major prize.

The pet parade will start at Pinckney-st and will proceed south on Scioto to Main, east on Main to Pickaway, south on Pickaway to Franklin, west on Franklin to Court, north on Court to Pinckney, where judging will be done.

MERCHANTS BUSY

The industrial and automobile parade staged immediately after the pet parade promises to be a real event for many merchants and manufacturers are making entries. The industrial parade Saturday afternoon will be the last of these events.

If Saturday is as fine a day as Friday it is possible a record for attendance will be made.

Pumpkin show possible, who are willing to give their time in order that you can feast your eyes on the pumpkins and eat pies made from them.

The prizes, though high in this department, can not repay these folks for their trouble. It costs a lot to raise and bring to the show 979 entries as John Wells has done this year, or 701 entries as J. B.
Anderson has done or 627 entries as the Coon Brothers have. The desire to make the Pumpkin Show a success is the goal that they set.

You can grasp the enormous volume of the pumpkin display when you realize that there are this year 2632 pumpkins and squashes on display.

The big pumpkins and squashes are almost as large as usual this year, the largest pumpkin weighing 62 1-2 pounds and the largest squash weighing 87 1-2 pounds.

Mills restaurant at Columbus tries every year to buy the prize winning pumpkin for display at their restaurant with the prize winning ribbon on it and they advertise the fact that it is the Circleville Pumpkin Show prize winner, acknowledging the fact that Circleville grows the best in the state.

DRY FORCES MEET HERE

Dinwiddie To Address Gather-
ing At Memorial Hall
Tuesday Evening.

A rally of the dry forces of Pickaway-co and adjoining territory is scheduled for Memorial Hall next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Two eminent, interesting and distinguished orators have been secured to address the gathering. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, a leader of the prohibition movement for a number of years past at Washington, D. C. and superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau, will be at the meeting. Mr. Dinwiddie is not only a national but an international figure in the prosecution of the work now and for the 20 years past, of making the liquor traffic an outlaw. He is not a fanatic but is eminently fair in his presentation of the greatest reform, he says, ever before the American people.

"Whether", the promoters say,
"you are for or against prohibition, you cannot afford to miss hearing this exponent of the world's dry forces."

Following Mr. Dinwiddie, Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland, Democratic candidate for judge of the supreme court of Ohio, will deliver an address that promises to be strong.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT UNION MEET

Special music by the Presbyterian choir under the direction of Prof. Herbert Eagleson will be a feature of the union services of the Methodist and Presbyterian congregation Sunday evening.

Dr. McElfresh will give a brief message. The next union evening services of the two churches will be at the Methodist church.

Announcement is made by Rev.
Emil S. Toensmeier that the primary department of the church, which has been closed for the past two weeks, will reopen on Sunday.

MARTINS FERRY, O., Oct. 24.
—Louis Romato, 35, who was injured in a railroad tunnel cave-in which caused the deaths of two other men yesterday, died in City hospital here today.

Romato's severe internal injuries, the extent of which were not known, caused his death.

Romato's body was taken to Dillonsville, his home.

The other victims of the tragedy were Edward Duda, 55, and Jerry Sells, 40, all of Dillonville. They were working on a freight train crew of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad.

An investigation was being launched into the cause of the accident today. It was generally believed that rotted wooden supports were responsible for the cave-in of the tunnel.

LARGE THRONG ARRIVES EARLY TO CELEBRATE

Four Parades Are Chief At-
tractions of Pumpkin
Show Last Two Days.

BANDS PLEASING

Pet and Industrial Parades
Are Saturday Afternoon.

With a bright sun shining upon the city, crowds of Pumpkin Show visitors began to throng into the city early Friday morning and early this afternoon a truly large Pumpkin Show crowd was on the streets to view the two big parades of the afternoon the third parade raced this evening. The first ideal Pumpkin Show day of the week found its way into the city Friday and people from far and wide were wending their ways here to take part in the remaining two days of the celebration.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m. Friday when the baby parade, postponed from Thursday afternoon because of rain, was the leading event, until late Saturday night the Pumpkin Show will be celebrated in its usual way.

PARADE FEATURES
Immediately following the baby parade, the industrial and automobile parade with many beautiful floats in the line of march was scheduled. The comic and characterization parade with a large number of entrants was set for Friday at 8 p. m.

All three of these parades create much interest each year and were in a large way responsible for the large Friday afternoon crowd. It was expected that Friday-evening's crowd would be a great one.

The Ashville community band and the Adelphi band were playing their brilliant music Friday beginning early in the morning and continuing through the day and Friday evening the American Legion drum corps, which has created such a good impression with its tunes during the first two days of the show, is again scheduled.
Thursday evening the Chillicothe drummers came to town and paraded with the local organization.
The combined music was excellent.

Saturday afternoon the favorite event of the entire show, the pet parade, will be seen at 2:30 o'- clock. Children from Circleville and from every city, town, village and hamlet in the county and adjoining counties will be present to see other kiddies marching up and down the streets with their galaxy of pets. Last year's pet parade was one of the most complete a Pumpkin Show ever saw and this year's is expected to be every bit as good.
One child last year had six pets in one wagon and naturally walked off with the major prize.

The pet parade will start at Pinckney-st and will proceed south on Scioto to Main, east on Main to Pickaway, south on Pick-away to Franklin, west on Franklin to Court, north on Court to Pinckney, where judging will be done.

MERCHANTS BUSY
The industrial and automobile parade staged immediately after the pet parade promises to be a real event for many merchants and manufacturers are making entries.

The industrial parade Saturday afternoon will be the last of these events.

If Saturday is as fine a day as Friday it is possible a record for attendance will be made.

MAL DAUGHERTY IS VERY SICK MAN

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24.—Mal S.
Daugherty, former president of the now defunct Ohio State Bank at Washington C. H. spent a restful night but was described as "a very sick man" today.

Daugherty is confined in the Mc-Millen Sanitarium suffering from congestion of the lungs and a nervous breakdown. His brother, Harry S. Daugherty, former U.S. attorney general, is in constant communication with the sanitarium.

Harry Daugherty said his brother rested fairly well during the night but was running a high temperature. Every effort is being made to prevent his illness from developing into pneumonia.

The former attorney general is a practicing attorney here. He, too, is suffering from a cold which kept him away from his office today.

of Ohio State's western Conference championship outfit. He was considered one of the best passers that ever graced this great American sport. He was an exceptional punter. Hoge could run through a broken field in the manner of Chic Harley and he was a heady player in any circumstance.

The late Walter Camp, Dean of American football, put him on his All-American second team for two years.

PLAYS BISHOPS

Hoge has made good as a coach since the Scarlet and Gray school gave him a sheepskin way back when and he's out to prove his worth on Saturday. From all previous reports, Simpson should defeat the Bishops. They are evenly matched and it will be a good battle. The breaks may decide.

The week-end is chuck-full of good grid games. Many of them are important — some are set ups.

In the Buckeye conference, little Denison, with four defeats and nary a win marked up for the season so far, will attempt to get into the win column at the expense of Cincinnati. Neather team has showed much this year but it shouldn't be a surprise if the big reds from Granville, downed the Bearcats.

Miami is almost certain to lose its place at the top of the conference standings to Ohio University. Miami has made an excellent record for the season while the Bobcats have disappointed their followers somewhat. Nevertheless, Ohio is conceded more than an even chance to cop the game. It will be Ohio's conference game of the year.

The eyes of the state are fixed on Akron, Ashland, Heidelberg and Muskingum, the high-spot elevens of the Ohio conference. Akron has an easy one for Saturday. Baldwin-Wallace should lose another and Akron, in all probability, will remain undefeated.

ASHLAND IN SET-UP

Ashland, with three conference victories to its credit, deviates from league play and steps over to Kent to take on Kent State. The hilltop group from Ashland is certain to win from the Foxes.

Heidelberg should still be in defeat after Friday night's game with the University of Toledo Rockets. Toledo has yet to win a game in the 1930 campaign, while the Student Princes of Heidelberg boast of one of the best outfits in the state.

Mount Union should be meat for Muskingum, but it will probably be a little tough. The Muskies are not expecting to win easily.

In the Northwest Ohio conference, Bowling Green is leading the pack and almost certain of another conference championship. The Falcons take on Findlay Friday. Findlay has won its only conference game, that against Toledo, but the victory was unimpressive.

Defiance can tie with Findlay for second place if the Yellow Jackets can down Bluffton, who occupies the cellar.

WORST IS OBERLIN

Wooster and Oberlin, two of the most ancient football foes in the Buckeye state, engage in their annual brawl at Oberlin Saturday for one of the day's headlines.

Capital, one of the few undefeated teams in Ohio, will attempt to keep its slate clean against Ohio Northern. This assignment is the toughest spot so far this season.

In two important games under the light tomorrow night, Wittenberg takes on Xavier and is the best bet to win, while John Carroll celebrates its annual homecoming by entertaining the flashy Davis-Elkins eleven.

Carnegie Tech will pay a visit to Ohio Saturday when the Plaid mixes with Western Reserve at Cleveland. Reserve will be swamped.

Wilmington is sure to win over little Rio Grande.

Cedarville and Urbana tangle in their second game of the year. The first ended in a tie and this one is a toss-up.

Hirman plays host to the Ohio State "B" and will probably lose another game.

Otterbein and Marietta tangle at Westerville with Otterbein a slight favorite to cop.

Wilberforce, Dayton, Kenyon, Case go out of the state for their games with Tuskegee at Chicago, Boston College at Boston, Rochester, N. Y., and Michigan State at East Lansing. All are expected to lose except Wilberforce.

DECEMBER 7-14 GOLDEN WEEK

Over 900 guests at the eighth annual Golden Rule Dinner at the Hotel Roosevelt Thursday night responded to the challenge of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman for a nationwide observance of International Golden Rule Week, December 7 to 14.

A cablegram from Governor Roosevelt of Porto Rico was read, announcing that over 200,000 school children in Porto Rico are suffering from malnutrition.

"Many of these children," Governor Roosevelt said, "are obliged to go to school each day with only a cup of black coffee for breakfast. The only substantial meal that they get during the day is the one served from our school lunch room. Could you see the crying need for aid you would realize how much your work means to us. Every penny that you raise will alleviate suffering of an actual nature and in many instances change the entire course in after life of the children helped. Without proper food our children are the prey, not merely of starvation but of disease, for their power of resistance is weakened. Last week I visited many country schools and saw their school lunch rooms. Unless we get aid and considerable aid from you these lunch rooms will have to be discontinued in a large measure and that will spell disaster for thousands of our little boys and girls." Congresswoman Ruth Pratt strongly supported Governor Roosevelt's appeal for aid.

A cablegram from the National Child Welfare Association of China reported "Five thousand famine children dying daily." The committee reported that fifty-three such calls from twenty different countries were answered through Golden Rule Sunday gifts last year. This year the observance has extended through Golden Rule Week, December 7 to 14, in order to enlist the cooperation of service clubs, business and secular organizations, as well as of churches and Sunday schools.

PITTSBURGH CAMP APPEARS GLOOMY

School Press Says Team Is Handicapped Greatly For Tilt With Irish.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—A rather gloomy and badly crippled squad of Panthers are winding up the most important practice week of the year this afternoon on the hilltop back of Pitt Stadium.

Warned by their coach, Dr. John B. Sutherland, that defeat is staring them in the face, and constantly reminded of the fact by the numerous crippled regulars who gingerly exercise their lame limbs along the sidelines, the able bodied members who are drawing the starting assignments Saturday against Notre Dame are going about their work grimly, minus the happy-go-lucky air of past weeks.

Sutherland's unexpected prediction of defeat has created more pre-game football talk than this man's town ever before heard.

There are some who insist he's beating Rockne at his own game, but on the other hand his stand seems to be supported by the facts at hand.

Pitt has more cripples than it ever had before at any time Jack has been coaching the team.

Pitt is yet to show an offensive strength that could match that of Notre Dame's.

Pitt is lacking in the necessary reserves which are so plentiful in Rockne's ranks.

And in addition to all that Pitt's coach points to the decisive victory of the Irish over a Carnegie team that was heralded as the greatest ever to wear the plaid.

What Pitt has shown in the four games to date is a fine defense but that defense has been weakened by injuries and substitutes now fill positions in the line and in the backfield.

No team has scored on Pitt, or even threatened to score. But in holding them at bay the Panthers have been severely scratched.

That's the situation as the Panthers go through their last long drill today. Tonight Dr. Sutherland probably will hide them away at some remote spot where they will be in solitary until game time.

In the meantime the advance guard is arriving for the game. The Irish will be in tomorrow morning and will have a light workout at the stadium. They're favorites, 10 to 6.

FAYETTE BANK PAYS DIVIDEND

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Oct. 24.—The first step to pay back the depositors of the Ohio state bank and the Peoples and Drovers' bank of this city, who closed their doors several months ago, had been taken today. Depositors of the Peoples' and Drovers' bank were paid a 10 percent dividend which amounted to $60,000 yesterday.

The depositors who suffered heavy losses by the closing of the bank have more than $500,000 on deposit. Some received only $1 while the largest 10 percent check amounted to $18,000.

Suits against stockholders of the Ohio state bank, demanding payment of the double liability on their stock holdings, are expected to be filed soon by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman. The Ohio State bank has a capital stock of $200,000, one-fourth of which is held by Mal Daugherty, adjudged bankrupt, former official of the institution.

DECEMBER 7-14 GOLDEN WEEK

Over 900 guests at the eighth annual Golden Rule Dinner at the Hotel Roosevelt Thursday night responded to the challenge of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman for a nationwide observance of International Golden Rule Week, December 7 to 14.

A cablegram from Governor Roosevelt of Porto Rico was read, announcing that over 200,000 school children in Porto Rico are suffering from malnutrition.

"Many of these children," Governor Roosevelt said, "are obliged to go to school each day with only a cup of black coffee for breakfast. The only substantial meal that they get during the day is the one served from our school lunch room. Could you see the crying need for aid you would realize how much your work means to us. Every penny that you raise will alleviate suffering of an actual nature and in many instances change the entire course in after life of the children helped. Without proper food our children are the prey, not merely of starvation but of disease, for their power of resistance is weakened. Last week I visited many country schools and saw their school lunch rooms. Unless we get aid and considerable aid from you these lunch rooms will have to be discontinued in a large measure and that will spell disaster for thousands of our little boys and girls." Congresswoman Ruth Pratt strongly supported Governor Roosevelt's appeal for aid.

A cablegram from the National Child Welfare Association of China reported "Five thousand famine children dying daily." The committee reported that fifty-three such calls from twenty different countries were answered through Golden Rule Sunday gifts last year. This year the observance has extended through Golden Rule Week, December 7 to 14, in order to enlist the cooperation of service clubs, business and secular organizations, as well as of churches and Sunday schools.

PITTSBURGH CAMP APPEARS GLOOMY

School Press Says Team Is Handicapped Greatly For
Tilt With Irish.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—A rather gloomy and badly crippled squad of Panthers are winding up the most important practice week of the year this afternoon on the hilltop back of Pitt Stadium.

Warned by their coach, Dr. John B. Sutherland, that defeat is staring them in the face, and constantly reminded of the fact by the numerous crippled regulars who gingerly exercise their lame limbs along the sidelines, the able bodied members who are drawing the starting assignments Saturday against Notre Dame are going about their work grimly, minus the happy-go-lucky air of past weeks.

Sutherland's unexpected prediction of defeat has created more pre-game football talk than this man's town ever before heard.

There are some who insist he's beating Rockne at his own game, but on the other hand his stand seems to be supported by the facts at hand.

Pitt has more cripples than it ever had before at any time Jack has been coaching the team.

Pitt is yet to show an offensive strength that could match that of Notre Dame's.

Pitt is lacking in the necessary reserves which are so plentiful in Rockne's ranks.

And in addition to all that Pitt's coach points to the decisive victory of the Irish over a Carnegie team that was heralded as the greatest ever to wear the plaid.

What Pitt has shown in the four games to date is a fine defense but that defense has been weakened by injuries and substitutes now fill positions in the line and in the backfield.

No team has scored on Pitt, or even threatened to score. But in holding them at bay the Panthers have been severely scratched.

That's the situation as the Panthers go through their last long drill today. Tonight Dr. Sutherland probably will hide them away at some remote spot where they will be in solitary until game time.

In the meantime the advance guard is arriving for the game. The Irish will be in tomorrow morning and will have a light workout at the stadium. They're favorites, 10 to 6.

FAYETTE BANK PAYS DIVIDEND

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Oct. 24.—The first step to pay back the depositors of the Ohio state bank and the Peoples' and Drovers' bank of this city, who closed their doors several months ago, had been taken today. Depositors of the Peoples' and Drovers' bank were paid a 10 percent dividend which amounted to $60,000 yesterday.

The depositors who suffered heavy losses by the closing of the bank have more than $500,000 on deposit. Some received only $1 while the largest 10 percent check amounted to $16,000.

Suits against stockholders of the Ohio state bank, demanding payment of the double liability on their stock holdings, are expected to be filed soon by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman. The Ohio State bank has a capital stock of $200,000, one-fourth of which is held by Mal Daugherty, adjudged bankrupt, former official of the institution.

MEMBERS OF CABINET ARE STILL SILENT

Follow Cue of Hoover On Remaining Out of Fight For Senate Chairs.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Hoover not only is keeping himself aloof from the many savage political fights involved in this campaign, but his official family as well.

Old timers about the capital today could not recall an off-year campaign of the vigor and virulence of this one which saw so little cabinet participation. In other years, cabinet officers have spread far and wide throughout the country on speaking tours, exhorting the electorate to send a favorable congress back to Washington. Members of the cabinet were always considered the oratorical "big shots" of the campaign. But not so this year.

The cabinet's participation in the current campaign to date has been practically nil. Whether the abstention has been due to orders from the White House, or whether the members have quietly taken their cue from Mr. Hoover's own attitude is a matter of lively speculation.

One favorite explanation is that the prevalence and bitterness of the prohibition issue in so many of the senatorial and congressional contests has been the motivating factor in keeping the cabinet off the firing line. A cabinet officer usually is regarded as speaking for the White House and apparently the White House did not desire itself represented in these many contests, even by implication.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis is the only member of the president's official family who has taken what might be called an active part in the campaign—and he was forced to do so because of his own candidacy for the senate from Pennsylvania. However, he has made comparatively few speeches, and today it was announced that save for a few more appearances in Pennsylvania the secretary's duties would keep him close to Washington until after Nov. 4.

The fact that Secretary Davis finds himself in some disagreement with his gubernatorial running mate, Gifford Pinchot, over whether President Hoover "sent word to Pennsylvania that he insured the support of the entire Republican ticket," also had considerable to do with the secretary's decision to stick to Washington. Pinchot contends that President Hoover did send such word—and by Secretary Davis himself. Secretary Davis denies it.

Be that as it may, Secretary Davis' colleagues are sticking close to Washington, for the most part. Secretary of State Stimson has made one appearance. He "devoted" the Republican state convention in New York last month, but his address consisted entirely of a commendatory appraisal of the national administration. The convention adopted a wet plank and nominated a wet candidate for governor, but Mr. Stimson had returned to Washington before that was done.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde has had a few speeches in various parts of the country, but they have been largely confined to agricultural matters.

Postmaster General Brown has traveled a bit between Ohio and Washington, doing some quiet direction of the campaign there, but has refrained from speech-making.

And that about sums up the content of the cabinet's participation in this campaign.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon has not had a word to say in the extremely bitter contest in his own Pennsylvania. He has been just as aloof from it as President Hoover himself.

The others, Secretary of War Hurley of Ohio, Secretary of the Navy Adams of Massachusetts, California Attorney General Mitchell of Minnesota, and Secretary of Commerce Lamont of Illinois, have not made any speeches, nor are there any plans for them to do so, notwithstanding that all these states, save California, have close and exciting contests for Senate and House seats.

Its something of an innovation for Washington not to see the cabinet on the stump in a campaign as hectic as the present one.

U. S. COMMERCE BORROWS MAN

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24.—Fred C. Croxton, special assistant in the state department of industrial relations, Columbus, today began mapping plans for a state-wide survey into employment activities for the federal government.

A six-months leave of absence for Croxton was arranged by Governor Myers Y. Cooper, complying with a request from Robert P. Lamont, United States secretary of commerce.

"If you and he approve, I should like to secure the services of Fred C. Croxton for six months' appointment, department of commerce, to advise me regarding employment activities," Lamont telegraphed Cooper.

During the World War, Croxton was Ohio's food administrator. Later, he was director of the Columbus Community Chest fund. A few months ago he was placed by Cooper in charge of the state administration's activities seeking to alleviate unemployment.

Announcement was made at the governor's office that Croxton will retain active connection and direction of the state committee on stabilization and will attend a session of the committee here next Wednesday.

Depressed by Debts

WHILE everybody is trying to explain the present world-wide business depression, Samuel Kramer, a New Yorker described as an "international lawyer," says it is caused by war debts.

Mr. Kramer insists that most economists agree with him, whether they openly admit it or not.

Western civilization he says, has been carrying as assets on its books billions of property destroyed completely in the World War.

The civilized nations owe each other vast sums of money. On a rational balance books basis, argues, "civilization is bankrupt." It cannot keep on, saddled with its present burdens.

Germany is trying to keep going on borrowed money. England is meeting her debts by using up accumulated wealth. Italy and France have tried to balance books by depressing the value of their money.

"The United States, creditor to the world has been trying to sell its factory surplus to people who are already in debt up to their ears." He thinks we can't keep on doing that. If we persist, he foresees "dire things, Bolshevism, war and worse."

It is a dark picture. The remedy for this menacing situation, he suggests is cancellation of war debts, started by Uncle Sam and passed around.

There is no use of proposing that—not at present, anyway. But he is an optimist indeed who believes that our foreign debtors will ever pay us all they owe us.

Perhaps the children of the men who borrowed and lent the money will settle that question.

Liquor seems to be musing up the party this campaign.

Teachers' Allegiance

AT the annual conference of the eastern division of the Daughters of the American Revolution, delegates unanimously adopted a recommendation that the society continue its efforts to have all the state legislatures pass a teachers' oath bill. The idea is to require all school teachers to swear allegiance to the flag and to the state. A few states already have this law.

One may be a patriotic American and yet question the wisdom of such a law. Many patriotic men and women teachers would be justified in resenting this questioning of their loyalty. For the sake of catching a few disloyal teachers thousands of others would be affronted. Furthermore, the oath of allegiance would automatically banish splendid foreign teachers here under the exchange system.

There is no need of an oath to protect pupils. The teacher who expresses disloyalty or speaks sedition in the classroom is easily discovered and may be dealt with as an individual case. The loyalty of others may be taken for granted.

Another economic joke—gas goes down just as cold weather comes on and people don't care much about driving.

THE TREE SITTING SEASON IS OVER

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

A WEEK aboard the S. S. Mohawk has changed Judith Archer from a serious-minded, unromantic school teacher into a carefree, pleasure-loving young woman. She receives the attentions of Kit Camp, the ship's radio operator, and Tris Millet, fascinating figure of mystery, while her mother is attracted by a Mr. Tennant. Shortly after reading of the robbery of the famous Ballard emeralds, Judy sees Tris talking with a scar-faced man, whom he previously denied knowing. Questioned regarding his work, Tris becomes vague.

CHAPTER XIX.

"WAIT, lamb"—Peggy behind Judy holding sleeves for her arms.

"Dress is only half the costume—here, it catches in front—"

"But—well, I didn't know it was this kind of an outfit—"

She was staring down at a coat-like garment of white chiffon figured with tiny pink and yellow buds, very full of skirt and divided in front over the white slip. It transformed her from a prim young person to one would look at twice to a Dresden Shepherdess stepped from a tinted fan to the lit of a minuet.

Not the appearance she had meant to make—why, the girl in the mirror was the other Judy! Anything might happen with this secret Judy let loose to wander about by herself, do whatever she pleased.

Once let her go out of hand there'd be no putting her back between the pages of a book—into the shadows on a movie screen!

"Well" Peggy's voice was gay, rather proud as she surveyed her daughter. "Like it, baby? Supposing we'd brought only those old tweed rags!"

The daughter Peggy had dreamed of, wished for, all her life. Pretty, capricious thing like herself, all soft, winsome appeal.

"I will do your hair now—not a word, Judith; you must let me do this—"

When Judy was a little girl and given to furious rebellions, Peggy had spoken to her this way, called her by her full name. She was submissive now as she had been then, sitting with her head down while Peggy slid pins from the tormented knot, loosened deep, shining waves over her temples, caught up the ends so casually that they seemed about to go tumbling down at any instant.

"Mind you don't put up a finger all evening, Judy. I mean this."

"Well—" It seemed all a dream. Dinner was a dream with people staring; Betsy Rowe whispering, "Gosh, Judy, always knew you'd be an eye-teaser if you'd ditch the old maid stuff! Don't blame you. Ju—he's wild about you—might give us an introduction—"

Cap'n Charley bellowing for the world to hear that he'd be around to dance with the prettiest girl south of the North Pole; Kit Camp meeting her for a second on his way to the wireless room, staring with the clints all through his green eyes, saying, only "Queen bee—", say, jolly little old queen bee—"

All so new it was—intoxicating and—when she met Tris Millet, she half believed herself actually to be the other Judy caught in an especially lovely dream.

Very handsome Tris was in his evening black and white; very thrilling when he tucked her arm through his—pressed it against his side—looked at her without saying a word. Something in his face even while he smiled at her—longing, sadness—what was it about his dark good looks that seemed strangled cry between chilled lips. It was muffled by the roar of wind and sea, but it cut like a blade between the two who struggled.

Arms raised, shoulders crouching, they held themselves tensed, oddly resembling each other as they turned furious, glowering faces.

Now the shifting light was upon the spidery man, now it touched his little knitted cap, grease-smeard sweater. A sailor!

Something flashed in Judy's memory—the Public Gardens in Halifax—the man asleep on the bench at the end of the lane. This sailor asleep on the park bench and Tris walking into the lane!

She threw back her head, screamed again—felt the scream go blank against a palm pressed on her mouth.

"Shut up—God—cut that—"

Judy brought her open hand against a cheek—wrenched herself away—stared into a dark face bending to her own. That hoarse voice belonged to Tris; his arm held her, bound her shoulders so she could not move.

"Quiet, Judy, please—" His tone was gentler. "Rouse everybody—what's the sense of that?"

He took his hand from her mouth; half in a daze she saw that both men were watching her. They seemed to have forgotten each other or at least to have called a truce, waiting to see what she would do.

But she could do nothing—only stand there, shaking all over. Suddenly Tris swept her in his arms, pressed her head down against his shoulder. "You're frightened—never meant to speak so—not to you! Believe this, Judy—"

She pushed him away, gave a frantic look around. Wind and the thick, encompassing darkness—crash of waves on the ship's side—spray slithering along the rail. Only this and the two of them searching each other's face.

"He's gone, Tris—do you see? He's gone!"

She began to cry, clinging to him, sobbing in hysteria of relief. His arm tightened about her; he kept running his hand over her hair, murmuring, "Oh, now—it's all right—really all right. Nothing to think about; some dark hand come out to settle a score."

that ferocious impact, cowered against the wall in a numb horror. The wind rushed shouting over her head, hurried by demons of darkness; it tore the wrap from her shoulders, set her hair astream.

She kept peering into the gloom of that high, deserted deck, senses quivering to the padded sound of blows. Two men clinging to each other, locked in deadly embrace—why? What was this come dropping from the deck house roof upon Tris Millet's shoulders like a mad-dened ape?

Tris holding his own—no, the other had an advantage; had taken Tris by surprise, sent him plunging. Tris was on his feet, hurling himself upon the other who seemed all arms and legs like a spider; now they scuffled bawling together as in a crazy dance—lunged nearer; a fist shot so close she could feel the air it stirred on her cheek—crashed. AT THE MET Riding, shooting, bull-dogging and other typical things of the West hold sway in "Shadow Ranch," the current Columbia all-talking picture featuring Buck Jones at the Met Theatre.

This picture may be classified as a "Western De Luxe," because it is not only produced on a scale equal to that of any current feature film, but also boasts a cast of top-notch film names.

Buck Jones, in the role of Sim Baldwin, a roving cow-puncher, of course is the central figure. His acting, and feats of horsemanship in this picture, should do much to keep him in the front ranks of present day screen stars.

AT THE GRAND

"Mammy" is coming to town starring Al Jolson as a minstrel enderman, with Lowell Sherman as interlocuter, Mitchell Lewis as the other endman—Lois Moran as leading lady and Louise Dresser in the title role.

"Mammy," Warner Bros. latest all-talking, singing, romance of minstrel days, with Technicolor sequences may be seen at the Grand Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday next.

Both play and songs are by Irving Berlin. The cast includes Hobart Bosworth, Tully Marshall, Ray Cooke and Stanley Fields. Michael Curtiz directed. Don't miss "Mammy"—no tears—many laughs.

Mrs. Nickerson On Program At Federation Meet

Mrs. Glenn Nickerson, S. Court-st who has recently been appointed a district committee-woman by Mrs. William H. Schwartz, Portsmouth, state president, will talk on "Law Observance" at the annual South East District Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, Oct. 27 and 28 at Athens. Twenty district committee-women will have parts on the program.

Mrs. Robert M. Giesy of Lancaster district president, will preside at the conference which opens Tuesday morning. Mrs. J. H. Berry of Athens will welcome visitors.

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition.

There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. Each time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragrant liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil; brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier it is to arrange the hair afterwards. How it stays in place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer.

Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow long, silky and abundant!

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Thirteen troop divisions reinforced by six gunboats will be dispatched to Kiangsi province by the Nanking government of China to suppress Communist raiders, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai today.

RHINEHART THRILLS WITH PARACHUTE

Daring Youth Hops From Streaching Plane 3,206
Feet Above Earth.

Acc Rhinehart started his exhibition parachute jumping at the Liston field north of the city Wednesday. He will be remembered as the youth who jumped the chute here last year just one week after Joe Boyer was killed in Washington C. H., jumping the same chute.

Parachute jumping and stunt flying will be a part of the program each day at Liston's field.

Thursday afternoon hand-bills were distributed from the white Waco plane. These were numbered and each day there will be a number posted at the field. All the hand-bills that can be obtained should be taken to the field each day and if the number corresponds with the one posted the holder is given a free plane ride.

The Waco plane which Pilot Lewis and Rhinehart are using is powered with a 225 H. P. Wright Whirlwind motor. Mr. Lewis is a very efficient pilot.

On Saturday and Sunday the two youths are planning a big surprise, the details of which have not yet been announced.

Few persons can imagine the feeling that assaults one 3,200 feet in the air, thinking of diving off into space. That's what Rhinehart does and what's more he likes it.

The Debatable

That Henry's lines, "I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul," are "more healthful sentiment" is the conclusion reached by an English writer. But they have helped many a man to fight adverse circumstances, for all that.

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition.

There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. Each time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragrant liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil; brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier it is to arrange the hair afterwards. How it stays in place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer.

Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow long, silky and abundant!

RHINEHART THRILLS WITH PARACHUTE

Daring Youth Hops From Steaking Plane 3,206 Feet Above Earth.

Acc Rhinehart started his exhibition parachute jumping at the Liston field north of the city Wednesday. He will be remembered as the youth who jumped the chute here last year just one week after Joe Boyer was killed in Washington C. H., jumping the same chute.

Parachute jumping and stunt flying will be a part of the program each day at Liston's field. Thursday afternoon hand-bills were distributed from the white Waco plane. These were numbered and each day there will be a number posted at the field. All the hand-bills that can be obtained should be taken to the field each day and if the number corresponds with the one posted the holder is given a free plane ride.

The Waco plane which Pilot Lewis and Rhinehart are using is powered with a 225 H. P. Wright Whirlwind motor. Mr. Lewis is a very efficient pilot.

On Saturday and Sunday the two youths are planning a big surprise, the details of which have not yet been announced. Few persons can imagine the feeling that assaults one 3,200 feet in the air, thinking of diving off into space. That's what Rhinehart does and what's more he likes it.
